

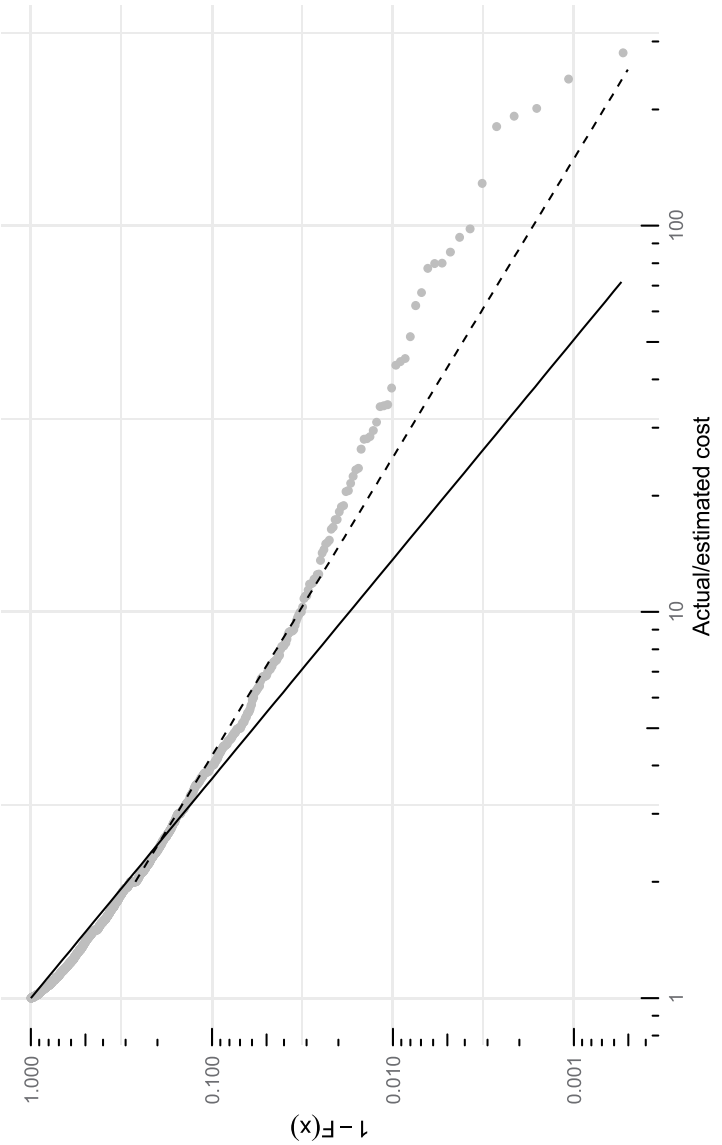

Figure 3. Fit of Power-Law Distributions to the Upper Tail of Cost Overruns x (horizontal axis) is actual cost divided by estimated cost. F(x) is the cumulative distribution function, with 1-F(x) (vertical axis) showing the probability of cost overrun being larger than x (log-log plot). The two power-law distributions are shown.

Electronic copy available at: https://ssrn.com/abstract=4204819